Satellite Rocket Launcher Details Are Disclosed

Martin Engineers To Construct
11-Ton, 72 Foot-Long Vehicle

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—New details of the construction, control and fuel of the three-stage launching rocket for the earth satellite were disclosed tonight by Martin Co. engineers.

Martin is building the 11-ton, 72-foot-long launching vehicle at its Baltimore plant. It was described in papers prepared by Sears Williams and F. Gordon Sholes for delivery tomorrow to the American Rocket Society convention here.

Since the customary stabilizing fins on the first stage rocket have been eliminated to save weight, Sholes said the rocket's engine will be free to swivel about three degrees in any direction, thus controlling the direction of the rocket in the opposite direction. Unlike a boat which turns the same direction its rudder is turned, the rocket will turn the opposite direction from the swivel of its engine.

Control Rocket Roll
Small rotating jet nozzles will control the roll of the rocket, Sholes said, by using the exhaust steam of a hydrogen peroxide system in the engine. They can be rotated in less than a 10th of a second by electrically controlled pneumatic actuators. Roll will be controlled on the second stage powered flight by exhausting propane gas through small jets.

The critical direction phase, he said, comes when the second stage fuel is exhausted and the vehicle begins to coast. It then will be moving at about 9,000 m.p.h. at an altitude of 130 miles. This is the last chance for the guidance system to line up the rocket in the correct angular attitude for a successful orbit. During the coasting phase, Sholes said, small jets control the vehicle's attitude in pitch and yaw as well as roll by utilizing residual gas in the helium tank of the rocket.

When the rocket reaches injection altitude, a coasting time computer gives the signal to spin the third stage. The rockets driving the spin table, burn for about one second. They accelerate the third stage to about 150 r.p.m. when a spinning motion actuates a mechanism which releases the third stage rocket bottle from the table. Two small rockets are then fired slowing down the second stage and allowing the third stage to coast ahead where it is ignited by a delay fuse.

Puts Satellite On Orbit
The third stage then is committed to the final phase of the trajectory which will put the satellite on an orbit around the earth at an altitude of about 300 miles. Williams said the launching rocket will use seven propellant fuels for the operation of its rocket engine systems and altitude control for the first and second stages.

He listed them as: (1) Liquid oxygen — an odorless pale, blue liquid which is non toxic, noncorrosive and noncombustible but which builds up explosive hazards when it vaporizes; (2) Hydrogen peroxide — which looks like water but becomes explosive when mixed with other liquids or is heated; (3) White fuming nitric acid — a highly corrosive and unstable acid and a powerful oxidizing agent which can cause spontaneous explosion with certain other chemicals and organic substances; (4) Unsymmetrical dimethyl hydrazine — a highly tered tires, barrels and auto accessories over an area of 75 square yards. No injuries were reported. A small line whistled across Ohio, touching off thunderstorms and winds of 60 to 70 m.p.h. The lake freighter Champlain was torn from its moorings in the Toledo harbor by 90 m.p.h. winds and slammed against a bridge. No injuries were reported.

Gusts also toppled the tower of radio station WWBG at Bowling Green, Ohio. Thunderstorms developed in a broad section extending south and east from Michigan. Gusts winds uprooted trees, topped television antennas and shattered windows in Muncie and Anderson, Ind. Utility wires were knocked down at Yorktown, west of Muncie.

Two Negro youngsters were injured fatally by flying debris when their home was demolished in the Schley-Macon County area 110 miles south of Atlanta.

Downpours swelled streams to dangerous levels, flooded cellars, washed out small bridges and inundated country roads in Georgia. A passenger train, the "City of Miami," was stalled for several hours by a washout south of Buena Vista, Ga.

Rains that exceeded five inches in 24 hours in western North Carolina sent a number of mountain streams out of their banks. Farm lands were flooded. Transportation difficulties forced schools to close in a half-dozen counties.

The chain-style streams, rolling eastward for five days, left a trail of damage and flood threats from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic Coast.

Since the series began Monday 4, storm deaths have been reported. Included were 12 in Texas, 8 in Colorado, 5 in Oklahoma, 3 each in Indiana, Mississippi and Pennsylvania, 2 each in Nebraska, Georgia and Missouri, and 1 each in Illinois, Ohio, Massachusetts, and North Carolina.

Snow eased off to light falls in some Northern states but persistent rains raised the levels of streams and rivers in the Central section of the country.

The Wabash River invaded a broad strip in the southwestern section of Wabash, Ind. Police and fire department boats were used to evacuate seven families. Forty families have moved earlier.

Booked In Tavern Deaths

Israel Fears Flareup Over Ban To Suez

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Israel was reported today to have told the United States that Middle East fighting may flare up again if any Suez settlement fails to lift the bar on Israeli shipping through the canal.

Diplomatic sources disclosed this as bad weather foiled an attempt by Secretary of State Dulles to fly to New York for a Middle East consultation with Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold of the United Nations.

Dulles flew to New York in an Air Force plane early in the afternoon but found the airport there closed in by fog. His plane finally got down at Albany at 5:20 p.m. and there were unofficial reports he would go to New York by automobile.

Dulles has been personally directing negotiations with Egypt on future operation of the canal. It is about to be opened to regular traffic after a shutdown which resulted when Egypt blocked the channel with scuttled ships and other obstructions during the British-French invasion of the canal zone last November.

So far Dulles has failed to get Egyptian President Nasser's agreement on three main U. S. proposals. These are that Nasser change his tentative plan for running the canal so as to make it an international commitment, recognize a U. S. supported grouping of canal users, and encompass six principles approved by the U. N. Security Council last Oct. 13.

The six principles: Protect Egypt's sovereignty, arbitrate disputes, insulate the canal from politics of any nation, no discrimination against any user, agree to tolls and set up a development fund.

Sewer Gushes Up Money In Kentucky Town

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., April 5 (AP)—Money literally gushed out of a rain-swollen storm sewer today and hundreds of persons lined the streets snatching up the soggy currency.

Police Chief Murrell Waddle said he could offer no explanation. He estimated upward of $1,000 had been picked up.

The most popular theory offered by townspeople was that heavy rains which have fallen since the first of the week flushed out money that had been hidden away in the sewer.

First word of the incident came last night when Mrs. Marie Smith called police and told them her 12-year-old son, Tommy, had found $64 floating in a gutter.

After that, reports became numerous. One resident, Herschel Taylor, said he got a $100 bill and two $20 notes.

Another man, Marvin Payne, reported he found a total of $210. Most of the currency was in poor condition—water-logged and partly mutilated, but the serial numbers were still legible.

Jury Indicts Woolridge Boy

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 5 (AP)—Fourteen-year-old Daniel Woolridge, who shot to death four members of his family Sunday morning, was indicted for first degree murder today after a judge ruled he should stand trial as an adult.

Woolridge admitted slaying his father, Ossie G. Woolridge, 57; his mother, Nellie, 45; a sister, Dolores, 11; a brother, Paul G., and wounding another sister, Doris, 12, in a fit of rage. The sister Doris is still in a critical condition.

Circuit Judge DuVal Smith ordered the boy tried under the state's general law instead of juvenile status. Under general law he would be subject upon conviction to the death penalty.

However, available records do not show whether anyone as young as Woolridge has been executed. Since the state substituted the gas chamber for hanging 20 years ago, no teen-ager has been.

If Woolridge should draw a prison sentence, his trial as an adult would mean he would serve it in the state penitentiary instead of a reformatory. There is now a prisoner serving life who has been in the state prison since he was 13.

Crude Oil Reaches French Refinery

MARGUIES-LAVERA, France, April 5 (AP)—Six tankers arrived in this refinery town in southwestern France today with 142,000 tons of crude oil.

This is the largest amount of crude ever landed in any European port on any one day. The previous record was established at Le Havre yesterday when 105,405 tons were landed there.

More Money Sliced From Ike's Budget

25 Per Cent Cut
For Commerce Dept.;
OSI Gets Nothing

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—A 25 per cent cut in President Eisenhower's $71½-million-dollar request for Commerce Department funds was recommended by the house appropriations committee today as congress continued its budget slashing drive.

In two stand-out actions, the committee pulled the financial rug from under the controversial Office of Strategic Information, cutting it off without a cent, and voted to defer a 62-million-dollar replacement for the aging transatlantic liner America.

The OSI, which says its job is to keep valuable though non-secret information from falling into Communist hands abroad, has been under fire by some critics who charged it with "censorship."

No Explanation
The committee gave no explanation for its refusal to grant the $105,100 sought for OSI's continued operation during the coming year.

For Secretary Weeks' Commerce Department and its related agencies as a whole the committee recommended $653,685,060 for the fiscal year starting July 1. This is $217,827,940 less than Eisenhower requested in new funds and $68,950,076 less than the current year's appropriations.

In addition to the cut, one of the biggest thus far this year, the committee ordered the War Shipping Administration to return $65,251,000 in unspent funds to the Treasury.

Jobwise, the committee approved only 4,033 of the 7,499 new Commerce Department and agency positions provided for in Eisenhower's budget. Most of these are in the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

Need For Economy
The CAA's $328,325,660 allotment includes $177,747,800 for operation and regulation and would permit the employment of 3,350 new technicians to handle the steadily growing flow of airways traffic.

While asserting it recognized the need for economy, the committee said it was influenced by "the primary consideration" of maximum safety for the flying public. It ordered a survey to determine whether flight safety employees are being paid enough to "assure maximum competency."

In addition to the CAA, these other agencies escaped the economy ax: the Census Bureau, the Patent Office, the Civil Aeronautics Board, the Public Roads Bureau, and the Weather Bureau.

Man Gets 20 Years In Rape Of Girl

MAGNOLIA, Miss., April 5 (AP)—The admitted ringleader of four white men accused of abusing a 16-year-old girl was sentenced today to 20 years at hard labor and was told by the judge his actions "had brought bitter condemnation on the State of Mississippi."

Circuit Judge Tom Brady pronounced the sentence against 30-year-old Ernest Dillon, Tylertown, who last week was allowed to plead guilty to a reduced charge of assault with intent to rape. Dillon, one of three men accused of raping the girl, had been held on rape charges since the May 13, 1956, incident.

Sheba crawled into a maternity compartment in her cage at the Como Park Zoo this afternoon and a short time later the zoo director John Fletcher, saw her carrying a cub by the scruff of the neck. He said he believed others were on the way.

Three Are Killed In Plane Crashes

FRANKFURT, Germany, April 5 (AP)—Three Americans were killed and a fourth pilot was seriously injured in three military plane crashes in West Germany today.

Two light observation planes of the U. S. Army's 3d Division collided and crashed near Altenstadt, killing both pilots. Near Munich, the American pilot of a German Luftwaffe jet fighter was killed when his F84S exploded in the air.

Near Herford, another jet fighter plane was destroyed when it crash-landed on a road after hitting a high tension wire. The pilot was seriously injured. Police tentatively identified the plane as American.

Bates, who Reddin says has a long criminal record, insisted: "I don't know nothing" about it. Brenhaug also denied knowledge of the

Foreign Aid Misunderstood Says Fairless

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Benjamin F. Fairless today attributed growing opposition to foreign aid spending to "misunderstanding" on the part of many Americans of the contribution the program makes to United States security.

"Once the people get the facts and know what this is all about," Fairless told a special Senate committee studying the foreign aid program, "they are for it."

Fairless, former chairman of the board of U. S. Steel, testified as coordinator of the President's citizen advisers on the mutual security program. He based his conclusions on a worldwide survey of the effects of the program.

He and a subsequent witness, J. Peter Grace, president of W. R. Grace & Co., told the committee the government should stimulate private investment abroad through reduced taxation on foreign business income.

Grace urged this government to maintain an "intelligent and vigorous" program of technical assistance, sound development loans and encouragement of U. S. private investments in Latin America.

"It is my considered belief that in the immediately foreseeable future Latin America will come into being as a strong economic force in the world," Grace declared.

"The help we give Latin America today through technical assistance, loans and private investments will certainly pay us attractive dividends in the future."

Grace's company has large chemical, industrial and transportation interests and a century-long experience in Latin America.

As a tax incentive, he recommended that the United States grant rapid amortization to new U. S. industries established in Latin America, under tax treaties between the United States and the republics to the south.

Secret Airplane Reported Missing

CARSON CITY, Nev., April 5 (AP)—Nevada law enforcement officials were alerted today that a secret airplane is missing in Nevada, Utah or California.

Supt. Robert Clark of the Nevada Highway Patrol said the plane may be in the area of Palmdale, Calif., Reno, or Delta, Utah. No information on its type or its home base was available.

Pair Arrested, Two Others Sought In Fatal Cafe Gasoline Bombing

LOS ANGELES, April 5 (AP)—Police today staged a massive hunt for two men who, full of hate and booze, made human torches of five men and a woman quietly enjoying themselves in a neighborhood bar.

They were arrested while asleep in Bates' car in his driveway early this morning.

The fire occurred at 11:40 p.m. last night in the Club Mecca, a quiet neighborhood cocktail bar on Normandie Avenue in the south-central district.

"One moment I had a cafe full of happy people having a good time. Then a sudden flash and the bar turned into a hell on earth."

That was the way bartender Larry Fenton, 24, sobbingly described the tragedy to newsmen.

He said there was a gay crowd of nearly a score in the bar when four men came in, had a few beers and began annoying a regular patron Mrs. Hermenia Morales.

"They began to use filthy language and then they started paying me," Mrs. Morales later said. Three of the four were ejected. They returned and got their pal. About 40 minutes later the front door burst open. One man sloshed a pail of gasoline on the floor. Another threw a lighted match on it.

Economy Step Is Postponed For One Week

Summerfield States
Drastic Cuts Needed
Unless Money Given

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Postmaster General Summerfield today postponed drastic mail service cuts one week, but said they would start going into effect April 13 unless he gets more money.

He contends his department needs 47 million dollars to maintain full postal services through June 30.

Unless the money is in sight by April 13, he announced, all Saturday deliveries of regular mail will be discontinued as of that date and all post offices closed to the public on Saturdays and Sundays.

Summerfield told a news conference further drastic economy measures would be taken later in the month if his deficiency appropriation isn't passed.

Include Money Orders

These measures include a suspension of the money order service in all first and second class post offices as of April 29 and an embargo on third class mail, excepting certain medical items, on the same date. Third class mail covers small merchandise, merchandise samples and advertising material.

"I am moving as though Congress is not going to act on our appropriation request," the postmaster general said. He told the newsmen he had issued instructions to have his curtailment orders sent out to the 37,000 U. S. post offices.

Summerfield was not mollified by the House Appropriations Committee's action today in voting to notify him he could count on at least 17 million dollars to maintain regular postal services for the last three months of this fiscal year.

He described as "ridiculous" the committee's decision to postpone until next Friday consideration of an additional deficiency allotment.

Has Confidence

By this course of action, he said the committee "failed to give Congress, in session this afternoon, the opportunity to clarify this whole question and make unnecessary the orders I'm releasing to the postmasters at 6 p.m."

"Do you feel you are going to get the 47 million dollars?" a reporter asked.

"I have confidence common sense will prevail," the postmaster general replied.

Earlier in the day, in a speech on the House floor, Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of the Appropriations Committee accused Summerfield of "an unadulterated bluff."

"They'll deliver the mail," he predicted. Cannon complained the Post Office Department was "holding a gun to our head."

Woman Indicted In Fatal Shooting

RICHMOND, Ind., April 5 (AP)—The Wayne County grand jury today returned a first degree murder indictment against Miss Ethel Wise, 31-year-old divorcee accused of killing Roy Hirschburg, nationally known photographer, in a triangle involving a former girl steeplejack.

Miss Anne McFarland, 41, who had given up steeple painting to work as the 64-year-old photographer's receptionist, stood by screaming while Hirschburg was felled by rifle bullets in front of his studio March 25.

Eastern Part Of Nation Is Struck By Heavy Rains, Roaring Windstorms

(By The Associated Press)

Thunderstorms, heavy rain and roaring winds hit wide areas in the eastern half of the nation Friday.

Winds generally described as tornadoes struck in a half-dozen places in Georgia. Two children were killed, at least a half-dozen persons were hurt and more than 100 buildings were flattened.

Medical Men Called 'Absurd' At Adams Trial

LONDON, April 5 (AP)—The murder trial of society physician Dr. John Bodkin Adams neared an end today with opposing attorneys sharply denouncing testimony by noted medical specialists.

"Absurd, ridiculous," defense attorney Geoffrey Lawrence called evidence given for the crown by Dr. Arthur Douthwaite, a foremost authority on narcotics.

"Evasive, an absence of frankness, incredible," Atty. Gen. Reginald Manningham-Buller said of testimony given by the defense's medical authority, Dr. John Bishop Harman.

Lawrence wound up for the defense in the 15-day trial with a dramatic 3½-hour appeal for acquittal. The case appeared likely to go to the jury of 10 men and 2 women on Tuesday. Manningham-Buller began his summation which he will wind up on Monday.

Lawrence declared there is no proof whatever that the 58-year-old Dr. Adams made wealthy Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell an addict and then kill her with heavy drug injections in hope of benefiting from her estate.

"Trying to ease the last hours of a dying woman and promoting her comfort is a doctor's duty," Lawrence said. "It has been turned and twisted and inverted into an accusation of murder."

Mrs. Morrell died on Nov. 13, 1950, leaving an estate of nearly a half a million dollars. Dr. Adams received a Rolls-Royce and chest of silver from her estate. Her body was cremated without a post-mortem.

Dr. Adams attributed the death to cerebral thrombosis. But he also admits administering heroin and morphine injections to which Dr. Douthwaite attributed her death.

Italians In Homemade Boat Dock In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, April 5 (AP)—Two Italians—one a clerk, the other a surveyor—today docked their 26-foot homemade boat in Baltimore, one of the last stops on a leisurely cruise from their homeland.

Their voyage already has carried them 12,000 miles through open ocean and protected waterways since they left Viareggio, near Florence, Italy, in June, 1954.

Diver Dies From 'Bends'

LONG BEACH, Calif., April 5 (AP)—A deep-sea diver died of the "bends" at the naval shipyard today—and the man who was treating him in the compression chamber must stay locked up with the body until tomorrow morning.

Shipyard officials said Eldon W. Smith, 51, of nearby Wilmington, was stricken while making a too-rapid ascent yesterday from a depth of 204 feet.

Smith was placed in the compression chamber while in great pain, the officials said. Another diver, William Biller, 33, of nearby San Pedro, was assigned to massage Smith's chest in accordance with customary procedure.

Biller cannot leave until the chamber pressure in the chamber is gradually reduced.

Smith was inspecting oil drilling equipment.

The "bends" result from nitrogen bubbles forming in the bloodstream during a too-rapid decompression of the diver.

Ike Travels Within Limits

GETTYSBURG, Pa., April 5 (AP)—President Eisenhower motored from Washington to his farm home near here today—strictly within the speed limits.

The President, accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower, took two and a quarter hours for the 84-mile run. That was 30 minutes more than it took him over the same route a week ago.

Much of the drive today was in a pelting rain.

It was Eisenhower's first trip to the farm since he told a news conference last Wednesday that he had issued orders to his driver, Secret Service Agent Deeter Flohr that from then on "We will be particularly careful never to exceed the speed limit at any place."

Those orders were the aftermath of wide publicity the President's journey to Gettysburg last week got. Then the White House limousine traveled at speeds up to 75 miles an hour along a route where at no place is the maximum legal speed more than 55 miles an hour.

On the trip a week ago news men traveling behind the President's car were flagged down to the legal limit in Montgomery County, Md., while the White House party rolled on out of sight. A few times the speedometers in the cars of newsmen traveling behind flicked a bit over the limit today but that was only when they had to put on a slight burst of speed to catch up after passing slow-moving vehicles.

State Police Halt Battlefield Visit

SILVER SPRING, Md., April 5 (AP)—A group of students from Northwood High School in nearby Four Corners almost visited the battlefield at Gettysburg, Pa., today. But State Police turned them back as they were approaching the Pennsylvania border.

Soon after two busloads of students left this morning, anxious parents began telephoning the school. They said they had heard that weather conditions in that Maryland-Pennsylvania area had made highways dangerous.

The school principal called the Maryland troopers. State troopers caught up with the buses near the Pennsylvania line in Frederick County, Md. and turned them back. The battlefield visit will be made on another day.

tain a respect for the performance of their duties."

The jurors also said they disagreed with the present practice of sending committees of the 23-member body to inspect county institutions while the rest of the jury is in session. They recommended instead that the visits be made simultaneously.

Other recommendations said the Cumberland Police Department should "keep a more close check on the littering of streets, especially in the vicinity of the Algonquin Hotel, by heavily loaded trucks carrying sand, gravel and other material, and that Chief R. Emmett Flynn report to the October 1957 grand jury on this recommendation."

Suggest Cleanup

Also "the City of Cumberland should notify the Retail Merchants Association and other businessmen that they should take more pride in the appearance of the various shopping areas by either flushing down the sidewalks in front of their stores each business day; or, if the dirt and debris is swept, that it be placed in a container of some sort instead of being shoved into the gutters, and that Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz report on this recommendation to the October grand jury."

The growing number of fatal accidents was cited and the jurors favor a law requiring persons "charged as a result of their accidents to undergo both physical examinations and driving tests to obtain new licenses—the tests to be made under night driving as well as daylight driving conditions and to include checks of blood pressure, eyes, diabetes, etc."

The jurors suggested that Del. George R. Hughes Jr. present the matter to the Legislative Council, of which he is an ex-officio member.

In view of the Cumberland police department manpower problem, the jurors recommend that the Mayor and Council notify local funeral directors that the department cannot continue to supply cruiser cars and officers to pilot funerals.

They also recommend a thorough study of the state's mining laws and regulations, "especially the sections pertaining to conditions leading to stream pollution and those requiring the back-filling and planting or reforestation of strip mining operations."

It was noted that some buildings in Cumberland and the county do not have proper fire escape facilities and that owners of the building should take immediate steps to curb the situation. Such a situation came to light when the jurors questioned Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker of Cumberland and Police Chief Lloyd S. Truly of Frostburg.

Information obtained from county law-enforcement officers shows "the conditions in connection with violations of the criminal law are not abnormal and that there are no major crime problems as of this report."

Other Recommendations

Other recommendations were that the State Police launch a campaign against drivers who refuse to dim their headlights at night, and report results of the campaign to the next grand jury; that Cumberland police impress bike riders with the necessity for having lights on their bicycles at night; that obsolete ordinances on Cumberland's books be repealed, and that a tree at West-ernport which has figured in several accidents be removed.

The jurors reported that in their five days of work, they examined 47 witnesses and returned nine indictments.

The grand jury commended State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher for his "cooperation and assistance," and also Edwin R. Lila, county investigator, for the "very efficient manner in which he prepares cases for presentation to the Grand Jury."

Judge Harris told the jurors the report was "rather interesting," and it covered a great deal of ground from many aspects. He commended the jury by saying the report "shows more than average initiative," and "high-type citizenship."

In thanking the jurors for their service and sacrifice he pointed out that they gained experience and got a better understanding of problems of law enforcement authorities.

He also reminded them they would remain members of the jury until the October term although it was unlikely they would be called together again unless an "outrageous serious crime" occurred.

'Devil' Told Boy, 8, To Steal

TOLEDO, Ohio, April 5 (AP)—"Short, all covered with hair, big balls of fire in his eyes, three horns, a long tail and four hooved feet like a cow."

That's the devil of course, and he's the one responsible for an attempt by a 8-year-old boy to steal a quart of fruit juice and a quart of milk from a parked delivery truck.

Solemn-faced and speaking in earnest tones, the boy described the devil yesterday to Juvenile Court Referee E. Wade McBride.

The devil, he said, struck up a conversation at a street corner and tantalized his thirst by telling him how easy it would be to take the juice and milk from the truck.

It was bum advice.

"A man grabbed me before I could jump out of the truck," said the boy, who was turned over to the Child Study Institute.

Referee McBride had a suggestion for the boy:

"Make contact with an angel. He'll keep you out of trouble."

The boy said he'd try, but that he never has met an angel yet.

Mrs. Moehn Speaks On Growing Old

The "personality of an older person rests upon and grows out of his earlier personality," Mrs. Jeanne S. Moehn, University of Maryland specialist, told members of the Homemakers clubs at the Growing Old Graciously training meeting, which was held Wednesday in the extension office.

Mrs. Moehn pointed out that "his attitudes towards people, social issues, religion and politics greatly affect the kind of person he will be when older." She urged that throughout life people prepare for happy older years, stressing that hobbies are not developed in later life, but grow with one. To illustrate, she said she knows Grandma Moses, who not only has been painting all her life, but various members of her family also paint.

She talked about the American society viewpoint in present day culture, which is a culture for the young, not the old, where a person "past 55 is finished." She contrasted this with the Chinese who revere one when he reaches 50. Twenty-seven members attended.

SYMBOL

Legend has it that, long ago, the dogwood came into bloom on Calvary and that, afterwards, a cross was implanted into the flower itself, to remain for all time. You can see it if you look closely, rust brown against the white of each individual blossom.

Many of us carry crosses, faint like the dogwood's emblem but with us, nevertheless. Somehow, in this Lenten season, we become particularly conscious of them and of our need for help—a certain kind of help, that can be found only through the things we learn in Church.

The Church doesn't pretend to banish our cares and woes. But, its teachings realistically consider the experiences of life itself. No matter what our personal cross may be, we seem able to bear its burden with more strength.

Lent is a wonderful time in which to begin making church-going a regular part of your life—if you haven't already.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Thrift Thriving On Prosperity

In a performance that confounds prophets who see thrift as a vanishing American virtue, families of the U. S. in the last five years invested in life insurance at a rate that rose faster than did personal consumption expenditures in a booming economy. Reports of the Institute of Life Insurance show that while personal expenditures throughout the nation between 1951 and 1956 were increasing 28 per cent, from $208 billion to $265 billion, the annual total of life insurance and annuity premiums rose 39 per cent, from $7.7 billion to $10.8 billion. In the five years spanned by the study aggregate life insurance ownership in the U. S. increased by $161 billion, or 64 per cent. As a result, average family life insurance protection rose from $4,900 in 1951 to $7,500 at the first of the present year.

The advances made by life insurance long since have disproved predictions that the effects of various government programs would be slow poison to the habit of investing in life insurance protection. Instead, at the end of 1956 total assets of life insurance companies had risen to $95.8 billion, a gain of $27.5 billion in the last five years.

And now, more than ever before, insurance companies supply great shares of the new capital the U. S. economy requires for growth. Apparently the thrift habit in America thrives on prosperity.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Money Prize

It now needs to be seen what Senator McClellan's Committee will do next. It can, of course, turn to another subject, say to how many call girls have been paid out of government funds to soothe the nerves of visiting great men from abroad.

But such diversions, no matter how interesting, will not please most Americans who would prefer that Senator McClellan pursue the course upon which he started, namely, racketeering in the labor movement. The damaging, if not destruction, of Dave Beck of the Teamsters produced a week of gaiety not equalled since Senator Kefauver amused the nation with his exhibition of various gamblers and others engaged in illicit occupations.

Senator McClellan therefore ought to continue his investigation into racketeering and should next call not on those who buy houses and horses but on those who use union funds for campaign contributions. In this, he can well afford to be impartial, looking into both Republicans and Democrats, into those who pay by check and those who pay cash. He might, for instance, make a thorough study as to how his old colleague, Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan, happened to be defeated. In fact, Senator McClellan might go into the matter of the attempt to defeat him in his last campaign in Arkansas. He might recall that on that celebrated occasion, I spilled the beans and was duly denounced on the floor of the Senate by Senator Fulbright who should have had better manners. Or, Senator McClellan might look into the efforts to defeat Senator Pat McCarran, an effort which failed. Or, he might have a look at the sizable New York campaign contributions which went into Idaho to defeat Senator Herman Welker who did not represent any New York constituency.

If Senator McClellan and his Committee go into all this thoroughly, they will encounter the Committee for an Effective Congress and the Americans for Democratic Action and they might go all the way back to 1936 to discover how union money went into election campaigns. Perhaps Walter Reuther will squirm, but then Walter Reuther is an honorable man who, unlike Dave Beck, pays for his own steaks and shirts, out of his own pocket. He can face all the world as an honorable man and need fear no one's censure. Or am I wrong?

It would seem to be a pity to drop the racketeering in labor investigation with Dave Beck. Why not go on, maybe in alphabetical order, picking off these union leaders for their use of union funds, paid out of the dues of the workers, for purposes other than that for which the worker paid the money?

Perhaps we may yet see the phenomenon of the Civil Liberties Union offering to provide Dave Beck with counsel to defend his right to use the Fifth Amendment to avoid self-incrimination and going into court to forbid the AFL-CIO to deprive him of his vice-presidency in that body. Surely, if a university may not fire a Fifth Amendment Communist for poisoning the mind of our youth, a labor leader should not be fired for swiping money, for what is mere money compared to the mind of our youth?

We have not seen the last of Beck yet, I hope, because I am not interested in how many neckties he bought with union dough but whether or not he fixed any Senators and Governors and if so what are their names. And maybe if everybody goes picking on Dave Beck, he will provide this exceptionally useful information and also tell what some other AFL-CIO vice-presidents spent in the same activity, he surely knowing how the boys got together on such matters without the slightest regard to partisanship. The most bi-partisan activity in this country is campaign fund contributions, particularly under the table.

It would be exciting to see a profound study by Senator McClellan into this question of campaign contributions in such states as New York, New Jersey, Michigan, California, etc., etc. It would make exciting testimony if the Committee got the right labor leaders to testify, and also their accountants and press agents and various other fixers who attend to such matters during pre-campaign periods.

If Senator McClellan drops this investigation of Dave Beck, the latter might rightly shriek against unfair and undue discrimination.

'I Can't Keep 'Em In The Bag Like Ike Can'

How Texas Conservatives Defeated Themselves

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The story of the Texas election is the story of what happens when conservatives split—a so-called "liberal" wins out.

It wasn't a clear-cut battle between Republicans and Democrats as such in the election for U. S. Senator just held in the Lone Star State. The conservatives gave Representative Martin Dies, Democrat, more than 275,000 votes, and they gave Thad Hutcheson, Republican, more than 214,000 votes. This combined total of 489,000 conservatives was far in excess of the 340,000 votes cast for Ralph Yarborough, the winner. Searcy Bracewell, Democrat, who supported Ike in the 1956 election, got 31,000 votes that would not have gone to Yarborough.

If it be assumed that some of the Republican votes might have been spread among the other 17 Democratic candidates, it still is true that the bulk of the Republican votes cast were from the ranks of conservatives.

Had there been a "run-off" election permitted so that Martin Dies, on the one hand, and Ralph Yarborough on the other could have fought for the Democratic nomination, it seems likely that Yarborough would have lost out. There was considerable agitation for a "run-off," in which only the two candidates receiving the highest number of votes in the first election among several candidates are pitted against one another in the second contest.

Texas voters are accustomed to "run-off" elections to determine the top two who fight it out for the nomination, and it is most unfortunate that the Democratic Party didn't put through the State Legislature the bills introduced which sought to bring about that kind of election first, before challenging the Republican Party at the polls in the final contest. But one reason, of course, was that many of the supporters of Senator-elect Yarborough thought he had a better chance in an election that split up the Democratic votes, and isolated the Republican conservatives behind their own candidate.

Mr. Yarborough has been up for elective office in Texas on a state-wide basis five times and has lost four times. He ran once for Attorney General and three times for Governor. He is the standard bearer of the so-called "Loyalist" faction in Texas politics which is made up largely of the Truman-Stevenson wing of the party.

The Democrats in the North are, of course, crowing over "the great victory of the Democrats over the Republicans" in Texas. Also, the Republicans in the North are arguing that this election was an encouraging step toward a two-party line-up in the South. A few more episodes of this kind and the Republican Party will have succeeded in sending to the Senate and the

Salmonella Organisms Cause Various Infections

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Three years ago a small outbreak of dysentery marred the Easter festivities of almost 100 persons in Minneapolis. The causative organism was isolated and proved to be a type found frequently in chicks and other poultry. Health department officials traced the source to live baby chicks that were distributed by a food store at Easter time.

The investigation narrowed down to two stores that had received the poultry from the same hatchery. These chicks had been fed cereal rendered unfit for human consumption because the boxes had been broken open. In this respect, the situation was unusual.

But one of the most puzzling aspects was how a group of infants under one year of age became infected. These babies had not been in contact with the chicks and were fed at home under hygienic conditions. It developed that each baby had a brother or sister between 2 and 5 years old whose hands were contaminated when playing with the chicks. The babies must have got the infection from this source.

The type of infection in the Minnesota outbreak was a near relative of typhoid fever. These and related diseases are a common cause of food poisoning and are classified as the Salmonella infections. Hereafter, when your physician makes a diagnosis of salmonellosis, ask him which type is responsible: S. typhosa, S. paratyphoid, S. derby, S. newport, S. panama, or S. montevideo.

The culprit in our chick story was S. typhimurium. This information is of practical value if you are interested in the source. Let's assume you attended a large banquet and, 24 to 36 hours later, you and 100 other guests developed food poisoning. Symptoms ran the gamut from nausea, vomiting, and abdominal cramping to fever and severe diarrhea.

Word gets around that all who attended the dinner are ill. The health department goes to the hotel or restaurant immediately to obtain samples of leftovers from the meal. Meanwhile, stool specimens are obtained from the victims. It is an open and closed case when the organisms in the food turn out to be the same as those obtained from the patients.

Senator-Elect Yarborough Opposed By Most Large Texas Newspapers

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—At 4:30 the other morning I was faithfully following Secretary Wilson's advice "to do what's right and you'll sleep well with yourself," when jubilant Texans began calling me to announce the sweeping victory of Ralph Yarborough for the U. S. Senate.

"All the newspapers in Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio were against Yarborough," reported the Texans, "plus most of the other newspapers. Yet a liberal Democrat beat a field of 19 candidates."

"It's like the sales-meeting of the dogfood company," explained Bill Kittrell of Dallas.

"The sales manager said: 'We world. All the newspapers are for us. We've got the best advertising in the world. And we've got the best sales force in the world. Yet we're not selling dogfood. What's the matter?'"

"That," concluded Kittrell, "was the trouble with the Republicans and the Shivers Democrats. They had all the newspapers in Texas, all the money, all the publicity, and all the advertising. But the people didn't like 'em."

Conflict Of Interest

While Congress is investigating conflicts of interest, some of its own members have been caught in shocking conflicts that would have caused an administration official to be fired. Latest example is Arkansas' affable Congressman Oren Harris, who bought a quarter interest in a television station at the same time he passes on television legislation.

What's more, he paid only $5,000 for 25 per cent of KRBB-TV at El Dorado, Ark., which is probably the year's biggest television bargain. He couldn't have done better on one of TV's top quiz shows.

Of course, Harris happens to be Chairman of the powerful House Commerce Committee which not only handles all television legislation, but also has power over the Federal Communications Commission. In fact, he personally presides over the Communications Subcommittee, which deals directly with TV matters.

This means the FCC, which regulates TV stations, must come to Harris for legislative favors. To put the agency even more under his thumb, he recently formed a special subcommittee to investigate the FCC.

Obviously, Harris would be a terrific asset for any television station. The FCC would think twice about turning down a request from a station partly owned by him.

This may explain how he was able to buy one-fourth of KRBB-TV at such a remarkably low price. FCC records show the station's "net capitalization" is $150,000. One-fourth of $150,000 is considerably more than Harris' $5,000 purchase price.

The records also show that the station cost an estimated $110,000 to build.

Significantly, Congressman Harris is now pushing an application to increase KRBB's power from 24,000 to 316,000 watts, which will make the station worth over $350,000.

KRBB-TV is the only television station in south Arkansas and has its choice of network programs. It can be picked up by 325,000 sets, which gives it an estimated viewing audience of 800,000. In other words, Harris is buying into a valuable piece of property for his trifling $5,000.

Dr. Joe Rushton, KRBB-TV president, explained to this columnist that the station is still in debt, so Harris' bargain is not as big as it appears. He offered Harris a quarter interest because they are boyhood friends, he said, and because Harris helped get the station started.

Merry-Go-Round

Before the Texas election, Liz Carpenter of the Houston Post tried to query every Texan in Congress regarding his vote for Senator. All "pleaded the 5th Amendment"—no comment—or else couldn't be located. Actually most of them voted against their own colleague, Congressman Martin Dies and for Yarborough. Many would have voted for Judge Jim Hart, former chancellor of the University of Texas, if they'd thought he had a chance...Republican leaders were banking on 250,000 registered Negroes voting Republican in Texas. If they had voted in bloc, Thad Hutcheson, GOP candidate, would have won. But leading Negro papers came out for Hart, and the Negroes split their vote...Leaders say that never has the House farm bloc been so badly split since the recent defeat of corn farmer subsidies. Midwest Republicans, furious at New England and southern Congressmen for dumping the corn subsidy, are threatening to hit back by voting for lower tariffs on foreign textiles under the proposed General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

Memorializing

By Brother Barnabas

"To live in hearts we leave behind is not to die." Yet that image in the heart will fade away unless means are employed to keep it alive.

There are many kinds of memorials. The sentinels parading incessantly before the tomb of the "Unknown Soldier" interred in the National Cemetery in Arlington, Va. is a symbol of the nation's remembrance of her heroes who gave their last full measure of devotion "to make the world safe for democracy!" (sic).

As long as poetry lasts nobody can forget Arthur Hallam, close friend of Tennyson and fiancé of his sister Emily, for the poet's "In Memoriam" has immortalized him beyond the tooth of time. The American temple of fame in New York University is devoted to the memory of famous Americans who are chosen every five years as worthy of a place there.

Every graveyard bears silent witness to the human desire to be remembered. Tombstones are erected to perpetuate that memory. The inscriptions thereon soon corrode and become illegible.

Outside the family and a few close friends the departed are scarcely remembered till the hearse gets back, such is the proclivity of man for forgetting. In yesteryear times on the Hill of Tara, in Meath, Ireland, the kings, the clergy, the princes and the bards were wont to gather to consult on matters concerning the public good.

There they revived national patriotism by reading the chronicles of Ireland's illustrious dead to the accompaniment of psaltery and harp.

In time the practice fell into decadence, and Thomas Moore (1778-1852) lamented the fact in his nostalgic poem beginning with:

*The harp that once through Tara's Hall
The soul of music shed,
Now hangs as mute on Tara's walls
As if that soul were fled...*

A few days ago this scribe, prompted by sentiment and human interest, dropped in on what by a stretch of imagination might be construed as a modern session in Tara's Hall.

The occasion was the meeting of a body of lawyers who had come together to recite the heroisms of three of their fallen who had gone to the Great Beyond in recent months.

The atmosphere was that of a trial in a courtroom and one might feel jaily as he looked about on the insignia of juridical authority—the bench, the bar, the jury box, the witness stand, and the emblem over the bench whose inscription probably half the lawyers couldn't read.

At the stroke of the hour the lawyers filed in in solemn dignity, took seats facing the two judges arrayed in judicial togas, and at the rap of the gavel the ceremonies began.

I never knew lawyers could get together on anything till then. They are usually forlornest one another. Among the 50 or more of them assembled were judges, magistrates, district attorneys, office seekers, members of the firm of "Smith, Smith, Smith and Smith," a future Blackstone, a Henry Clay who in 54 years never lost a case—possibly.

The orations were not of the spread-eagle or funeral type, but factual, unemotional, yet sincere and reverent.

With a brief summary of the law and the evidence the Judge adjourned court and the barristers went back to their merchandise.

Then, the analogy of the "Hall of Tara" and the "Psaltery of Tara" ended, this gallery onlooker indulged a few random reflections about lawyers.

Some have push, some have a pull. Some are "civil," some "criminal." Some are speechifiers, some counselors.

They are indispensable professionals. If you are in spiritual distress you see your priest, rabbi or preacher. If you are sick you see your doctor. If you need legal advice, see a lawyer. He will collect for keeping you out of court which is often worth more to you than going to court.

A suburban widow was discussing her troubles with a friend. "Don't talk to me about lawyers," said she, "I've had so much trouble over John's property that sometimes I wish he hadn't died."

"Moses," said Uncle Eben, "was a good lawyer, but the way he kept the Ten Commandments short and to the point shows he was no regular lawyer."

"If Your Honor please, I don't know what to do," complained a harassed witness. "Every time I start to tell the truth some lawyer objects."

A Kentucky colonel was on the witness stand. The prosecutor asked, "Of what regiment are you colonel?"

"It's like this," said the witness. "The 'Colonel' before my name is like 'Honorable' before yours; it don't mean a thing."

Memorially yours,
BROTHER BARNABAS

The word "carat" is believed to have been derived from the Mediterranean carob tree, the seeds of which are of very uniform weight and were used in ancient times as a measure of weight.

Alexander Hamilton, the American statesman, was born a British subject on the island of Nevis in the West Indies in 1757.

Zanzibar and its neighbor island, Pemba, off Africa's east coast produce 80 per cent of the world's supply of cloves.

Although sugar cane was grown in Hawaii when it was discovered by the western world, the people of the islands had not learned the art of making sugar from it.

Pence Named Inspector At Westernport

Council Appoints New Zoning Board

WESTERNPORT—Water Commissioner Alvin Pence has been appointed building inspector of the Town of Westernport.

His appointment, along with the naming of three members to the Board of Appeals, was unanimously approved at a meeting of Mayor Okey E. Michael and Council.

Members of the board are George Failing, who will serve three years; Harry Richards, two years and Ray L. Wilt, one year. The first reading of Ordinance 13 to establish rules and regulations for building permits was approved.

On each $1,000 estimate of structure cost a fee of $1 will be charged. No permit will be issued until the fee is paid, council ruled. This also applies to the moving of buildings.

Vouchers amounting to $927, presented by Lee Haines, engineer of Glace and Glace of Harrisburg, Pa., were endorsed.

Mayor Michael reported $305.51 was paid on Municipal Parking Lot 1, leaving a balance of $15,309.19 out of an investment of $30,000. Violations and meter receipts last week on Lot 1 netted $51.04. A total of $21.43 was realized from Lot 2 and for street violations.

According to Mayor Michael, the town will appoint a humane officer due to the number of dogs running at large. Applications for the position are to be submitted to Police Commissioner Leo Herbert.

Palica's Big League Career Nearing End

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 5.—The perennial promise of Erv Palica as a big leaguer appeared to have petered out today.

The Baltimore Orioles made him available for $1 to the 13 other major league clubs. Palica, as an eight-year veteran, can refuse the claim and try to make a deal for himself.

"I think my best solution is to go back to the minors for a while, preferably to the West Coast because I live there. I'd just as soon hook on with Vancouver as any club."

Cleveland Wins, 12-9

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., April 5.—The Cleveland Indians got to southpaw Dick Littlefield for three hits and four walks in a four-run first inning that led to a 12-9 victory over the New York Giants today.

The Giants clubbed four home runs, but all were solo jobs by Hank Thompson, Hank Sauer, rookie Andre Rodgers and Val Thomas, a catcher on loan from Minneapolis who joined the club today.

Al Smith homered for the Indians, who have won six of their last seven.

Track Meet Today Is Off; Triangular Event Set Friday

The Fort Hill-Martinsburg track and field meet, scheduled here today, has been cancelled on account of the soggy condition of the field. Coach William P. Hahn of the Sentinels announced last night.

Martinsburg, South Hagerstown and Fort Hill will compete in a triangular meet at the local stadium next Friday at 3:30 o'clock. Hahn said. There will be 15 events on the program.

CHICO FERNANDEZ

Fernandez, Valo Figure In Phils, Dodgers Swap

Dodgers Get Five Players, $75,000

CLEARWATER, Fla., April 5.—The Philadelphia Phillies, with a wealth of pitchers but little else, today dug into the Brooklyn Dodgers' treasure chest to fill their shortstop hole.

The Phils obtained shortstop Chico Fernandez and in turn handed over utility outfielder Elmer Valo, former Brooklyn hurler Ron Negray, three lesser players and an estimated $75,000 cash.

Going to Brooklyn will be Melvin Geho, who handled the shortstop chores for Salt Lake City last season; Tom Harkness, a first baseman in the Class D Pony League in 1956, and a fifth player to be named later.

Chico Key Player

Fernandez was the key player in the deal. The Phils have had an eye peeled for a shortstop to replace Granny Hamner, the one-time all-star infielder who came down with arm trouble and has been trying for a comeback as a Philadelphia pitcher.

Hamner, with a spring record of 0-1, has appeared in a total of three games. He's hurled eight innings, fanning four, walking two and giving up four runs. Even the converted shortstop himself admitted he's got a heavyweight chore ahead if he's to join such Philadelphia pitching regulars as Roberto Roberts, Curt Simmons, Harvey Haddix and Jim Hearn.

Fernandez came up to Brooklyn from Montreal of the International League. He has been called by International President Frank Shaughnessy the best fielding shortstop in the loop's history.

Hit .227 with Brooks. He hit .283 for Montreal in 1954, leading the league in doubles with 44 and soared to a .303 average in 1955. He played 89 games with Montreal in 1956, batting .277 and hit .227 in 34 games with the Dodgers last season.

If Bill Is Signed "Slicing Up" Purse
No Doe Season Here Ted's Eighth Year

By C. V. BURNS

IF GOV. McKELDIN affixes his signature to House Bill 254, Maryland anglers will pay a license fee of $3 instead of $1.50 but such a law would not become effective until January 1, 1958, according to Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden.

Most of the laws passed at this year's session of the legislature go into effect in June but this does not apply to the fishing measure which has passed both houses at Annapolis. Licenses have been printed, are now in the hands of agents throughout the state and will remain $1.50 until the end of the year.

If the bill is enacted it will mark only the second time the anglers' license has been increased in Maryland. About ten years ago the fee was upped from $1.25 to $1.50.

In Pennsylvania, the Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs is urging legislative approval of a bill raising the state fishing license fee to $4, an increase of $1.50.

The State Fish Commission, however, has refused to alter its proposal that the legislature double the present figure and make the price $5.

MR. MINKE reports the discussion set for April 12 at Carvel Hall, Annapolis, on the proposed regulation to provide for a one-day season on antlerless deer, does not concern four counties—Allegany, Frederick, Garrett and Washington—which are exempt from such legislation.

In other counties the State Game Commission may designate the number of deer to be taken and may regulate the issuance of permits for the special season.

A GARRETT COUNTY sponsored bill (HB 686) calling for the extension of open seasons passed the House but pressure from the Wildlife Federation and other groups resulted in its death in the Senate.

This bill would have changed the squirrel and wild turkey season from Oct. 5-31 to Oct. 15-November 20. It called for a ruffed grouse season Oct. 15-January 5, and a rabbit, quail and pheasant season from Nov. 1 to January 5.

THE STATE SENATE proved to be the graveyard for HB 934 from Worcester county. This bill would have prevented game wardens from confiscating equipment of persons found guilty of violating laws which apply to the illegal hunting of deer. Under the present law enforcement officers may seize spotlights, guns and any other equipment used by the violators.

PAUL SULLIVAN, Pittsburgh member of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission, has called for an inquiry into the alleged "slicing up" of the purse Johnny Eubanks was to have received for his recent bout with Wilf Greaves which the latter won via the K. O. route.

Sullivan ordered the inquiry after Eubanks testified at a paternity hearing Monday that he received only $170 of the purse.

Eubanks is managed by "Bunny" Buntag. He will be remembered as the manager of Lee Sala, who scored a pair of knockouts in pro shows here in 1951. He also managed "Skeets" Starkey.

Buntag has informed Sullivan he can present documents to prove he did not receive more than the legal one-third of Eubanks' $700 purse.

Sullivan will try to find what happened to the other $300.

TED KLEINHANS, clever southpaw, who pitched for Johnstown and Cumberland in the Mid-Atlantic League in the late 1920s, is starting his eighth season as baseball coach at Syracuse University.

Ted had a tantalizing assortment of slow twistlers in his heyday and in 1934 when he was 29 years old he was up with the Phillies but failed to stick in the majors.

Demaret Runner-Up With 142; Hogan, Middlecoff Fail

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 5.—Sam Snead, a relaxed and mighty man on this big golf course, fired a four-under-par 68 over an "easy" Augusta National today and took the halfway lead at 140 in the 21st and biggest Masters Tournament.

And Jimmy Demaret, the only other player ever to win the Masters three times, threatened him from two strokes behind as Defending Champion Jackie Burke lost his early lead.

Ben Hogan Fails
The greatest shock to the big Masters galleries came when Ben Hogan, twice Masters winner and once regarded as virtually invincible here, failed even to qualify for the last 36 holes.

Hogan, coming in with a second round of 75 after an opening 76, stood a chance of surviving the cutover to the low 40 and ties until the last man in the field finished. Ben's 151 was good at the time, but when Henry Ransom, British Open champion Peter Thomson and finally, former U.S. amateur champion Sammy Urzeta came in with scores under 150, Hogan was knocked out.

Exactly 40 players with scores of 150 or better made the grade. Open champion Cary Middlecoff, who won here two years ago, missed out with 152, but that was a lesser surprise.

Seek 4th Titles

Snead and Demaret, each shooting for an unprecedented fourth Masters victory, made the standings and scores look more natural after the second day of this weather-plagued tournament. Morning rains, which drenched the course and softened the greens were a big contributing factor in the scoring.

Snead called big, threatening Augusta National "easy," and Demaret termed it "absolutely a cinch" under today's playing conditions.

So at the 36 hole turning point it was Snead 72-68—140 and Demaret 72-70—142 at the head of the list. Burke, Demaret's Texas buddy and business associate who won both the Masters and the PGA championship last year, slid back to third place with a par 72 for 143 after leading the pack with a 71 yesterday.

Ward, Furgol Post 144s

These three were in the dominating positions with 36 more holes to go. Behind them came former U.S. Open champion Ed Furgol and Harvie Ward, winner of the National Amateur for the past two years, with even par 144s.

Some other golf greats, notably Open champion Gary Middlecoff, didn't find Augusta National exactly easy. Middlecoff's 73 today was just one over the par of 36-36—72 for the broad, 6,990-yard course. But he took a 79 in yesterday's wind and his 152 total wasn't good enough to qualify for the final 36 holes.

For the first time this year the Masters field, which had reached a record size of 101 starters, was trimmed to the low 40 and ties at the halfway mark.

Celtics, Hawks Resume Series

ST. LOUIS, April 5.—(INS)—A real grudge battle shaped up today for the St. Louis-Boston professional basketball playoffs as Coach Alex Hannum of the Hawks accused the easterners of being a "moaning, crying club."

Hannum, while sharpening his team for the third game of the best-of-seven playoffs, also charged the Boston Celtics with having a couple of "hatchetmen" in Jim Loscutoff and Dick Hemric.

Hannum, whose team is 1-1 in the series, conceded that the Celtics were a "good aggressive club," but added that "they also can be mean and nasty."

In anticipation of an all-out effort by both clubs, a crowd of more than 10,000 fans will fill Kiel Auditorium for tomorrow's game. A repeat sell-out is expected Sunday for the fourth encounter.

Phillies Top Yankees, 6-4

Score Six In 8th, Whip Bob Turley

CLEARWATER, Fla., April 5.—The Philadelphia Phillies combined four hits, including a double, and two New York errors to score six runs in the seventh inning of an exhibition game today and gain a 6-4 triumph over the Yankees.

Until the seventh, Phillies bats had been stilled effectively by righthander Bob Turley. He had given up only three hits, two of them a single and a triple to Bob Bowman. Bowman smashed out the double that drove in two runs in the game-winning rally.

Yankee errors that compounded the defeat were made by shortstop Gil McDougald, who messed up a potential double play, and by left fielder Norm Siebern.

Seth Morehead, a rookie southpaw, finished up for the Phils and tossed up a home run ball to the Yanks' Darrell Johnson at the start of the ninth.

Milwaukee Scores Over Brooks, 5-1

HOUSTON, April 5.—Hank Aaron, National League batting champion, hit his 10th homer in 17 exhibition games as the Milwaukee Braves turned the tables on the Dodgers 5-1 today.

Aaron, who has a 47% spring batting average, cleared the right field wall at the expense of Sandy Koufax following a double by Milwaukee pitcher Lew Burdette in the fourth inning.

Burdette who allowed six hits in six innings, belted Koufax for a three-run homer in the second. Koufax, reached for six hits in the fourth inning, drove in the lone Brooklyn run with a single.

Davis and Alderton will be the so-called coaches of the alumni in the seventh annual game which winds up spring training for the varsity. Davis captained the 1949 team and Alderton was co-captain three years later.

Among those being invited back are such former stars as tackles Dick Modzelewski, Stan Jones, Mike Sandusky, Quarterbacks Jack Scarbath and Bernie Faloney, Halfbacks Ronnie Waller, Chet Hanulak, and Ed Vereb, Fullbacks Ed Modzelewski and Dick Bielski, and Centers Bob Pelligrini and Tom Cosgrove.

Red Sox Drop 5th Straight

SARASOTA, Fla., April 5 (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics rallied for four runs in the eighth inning—only one of them earned—to defeat Boston 4-1 today and hand the Red Sox their fifth straight loss against major league competition.

George Susce was the victim of an error, a pair of walks and three singles after starter Ike Delock held the A's to two hits in his six innings.

Wild Ride Cops Laurel Feature

LAUREL, Md., April 5 (AP)—Wild Ride, owned by the Jacyly Stable of Dr. Leon Levy of Philadelphia, turned back Robert S. Lytle's Correlation by a nose in the Potomac Purse, featured seventh race at Laurel today.

Fit after a campaign in Florida, Wild Ride received a strong ride from Bobby Martin and completed six furlongs in 1:12 1/5 on a sloppy track, paying $6.60 and $4.

Six-year-old Correlation, making the first start of a comeback, may have tired slightly in the final strides as he finished second to pay $4.20. He rushed Wild Ride in midstream and appeared a sure winner but "hung" in the last 100 yards.

William H. Bishop's Will of Allah, a heavy favorite in the five-horse field, finished third about a length behind the leaders. Betting was limited to win and place pools because of the small field.

In Memoriam
IZAT—in loving memory of our husband, father, father-in-law, and grandfather, William Izat, who passed away ten years ago on April 6, 1947.
There is a sad but sweet remembrance.
There is a memory fond and true.
There is a token of affection, dear.
And a heartache still for you.
Loving wife Anna, Son Paul, Daughter-in-law Mary Alice, and Grandson Paul Jr.

Grand Jurors Disagree With January Body

Sheriff's Office Figures In Report

The April grand jury in its report yesterday took issue with the January grand jury's finding that the sheriff's office is kept too busy serving warrants to spend enough time on law enforcement.

"In fact, the exact manner in which the sheriff and five deputies keep occupied is vague . . ." said the April report, submitted to Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday.

Among recommendations in the 10-page report was a suggestion "that the sheriff during the months of May, June, July, August and September, keep an accurate and complete day-by-day record of the work of himself and his five deputies."

This report would include "names of parties and places warrants are served, names of prisoners transported and where picked up and taken, response to calls of disturbances, robberies, violence, missing persons, raids or any activity bordering on the function of law enforcement."

The January Grand Jury had reported "that much of the Sheriff's time, as well as that of his deputies, is spent in serving warrants — on order from the Juvenile Court."

"It has also been reported," said yesterday's report, "that paper work in connection with operations of the Circuit Court and State's Attorney's office is so heavy that the sheriff and his five deputies have no time left to engage in law enforcement activities." The jurors said they "could not agree" with this.

Target Practice Needed

"We also feel it is a bad practice for deputies to have their own guns and not engage in target practice of any kind at the Cumberland Police Department range. In this connection, we recommend that rusty and beyond repair firearms on the premises be disposed of in some safe manner, and that the County Commissioners arrange to furnish the sheriff and deputies with standard, accepted and uniform firearms; that the sheriff arrange for regular cleaning of same; that the sheriff also arrange a target practice schedule and see that it is carried out; and also that the sheriff report on all these matters to the October 1957 grand jury."

A recommendation of the January grand jury that the Allegany County Delegation to the General Assembly of Maryland initiate legislation to have the state establish a commission to make a thorough study of the penal system of Allegany County has not been complied with, according to the jurors.

They recommend that "in view of the fact it is obvious the county cannot afford to build a new jail in the near future," the County Commissioners and the members of the Allegany County Delegation to the General Assembly of Maryland "initiate without delay a study of the problem; that they start conferring with state and federal penal authorities on long-range plans for a jail, and that the County Commissioners report on the progress of this to the October 1957 grand jury and succeeding grand juries."

Special attention, said the report, is needed in the area of care of juvenile offenders, specialized care and treatment of alcoholics, and better separation of types of prisoners.

Urges Help To Jurors

The jurors said "future grand juries should have some means of familiarizing themselves with their duties as grand jurors prior to the time that they meet; and we also feel that there should be a closer bond between the current grand jury and succeeding grand juries to provide coordination in their duties and a system of checking upon recommendations of preceding grand juries." They point out "this would enable each new grand jury to fulfill its full functions and maintain (Continued on Page 2; Col. 4)

More Petitions Are Presented

Additional petitions calling for a referendum on a $500,000 bond issue were turned in to the City of Cumberland yesterday and will be presented formally to the Mayor and Council on Monday.

Wallace G. Ulery, city clerk, said yesterday petitions containing 3,831 names had been turned in and that R. L. Spiker, Uhl Highway, advised he had additional petitions which would be forwarded by registered mail.

The first list of petitions containing 3,424 names were submitted Thursday by Charles Z. Heskett, former city attorney, who yesterday turned in additional groups containing a total of 407 names.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said the Mayor and Council will make plans Monday for checking with the Registration office for duplications and to learn whether the signers are "qualified" voters, as called for in Senate Bill 5 which was enacted by the General Assembly in 1955.

Mayor Eves said he wants the Mayor and Council to put forth clearly the facts on which it is asking for the bond issue.

Sweetest Of The Sweet

Blonde, blue-eyed Miss Agnes Rose Oaks, senior from Shade-Central High School, receives the crown as Queen Maple X of the Somerset County, Pa., Maple Festival. Gov. Joseph B. Johnson of Vermont proclaimed the 17-year-old beauty "queen" as he placed the bejeweled tiara on her head yesterday afternoon. The Vermont governor, whose state also is noted for maple products, was special guest at the festival.

Vermont Governor Urges Maple Tree Conservation

MEYERSDALE, Pa., April 5 (P)—Gov. Joseph B. Johnson of Vermont today urged there be more prudence and careful conservation of maple sugar trees.

In a speech at a luncheon marking the second day of Somerset County's 10th annual Maple Festival, the governor also said there should be more co-operative

Police Continue Area Robbery Investigation

State and county law enforcement officers are continuing an intensive investigation in the armed robbery of a Mt. Savage couple by three bandits who entered their home on Thursday afternoon.

The trio took $315 from Karl E. Ewald, 75, and his wife, Mrs. Agnes G. Ewald, 70, who were bound and gagged during the scuffle.

Edwin R. Liya, Allegany County investigator, said last night that state and county authorities are "putting forth quite an effort" to track down the bandits.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police, made the initial investigation, and has been joined by Mr. Liya.

In the bold daylight robbery the bandits forced Mr. Ewald to open a wall safe on the second floor of his home and give them some $300 in currency. They also took $15 from a bowl in the dining room.

Telephone lines in the home were snipped by one of the bandits and the couple was roughed up in the scuffle which occurred about 2 p. m.

Police of 15 states have been alerted. Although the description of the trio was vague, they were reported to have made their escape from the Ewald home in a light-colored, late-model car.

Stamp Club To Hear Easter Seal Talk

The Fort Cumberland Philatelic Society will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Council Chamber at City Hall.

Featured will be an address on Easter Seals by James Tole, a member of the stamp club sponsored by the Recreation Department.

Final plans will be made for a picnic to be held during May, according to Brother Nicholas, president. The program for the meeting has been designed to interest both junior and senior members.

Trained Leaders Will Direct Study Program

The parent-child study program in Allegany County will be conducted during the 1957-58 school year under trained, paid leadership, according to Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in the county public schools.

"We have a wonderful product to sell but we cannot afford to sit back and expect this product to sell itself. We must not let a single opportunity go by to put this product on the table of every family in America."

The governor said also that he "rejoiced in the fact that Somerset County's maple festival recognized the leading position of Vermont's maple products by inviting me to attend their festival."

Gov. Johnson crowned 17-year-old Agnes Rose Oaks as "Queen Maple X." She is a pupil at Shade-Central City Joint High School.

Following the ceremony, the governor inspected the sugar camp of George Keim, last year's maple king.

Three area units which appeared in the Maple Festival grand parade last night captured cash prizes.

Bruce High School Band of Westernport was awarded a first prize of $40 as the best out-of-state band.

The Blue Angels, drum and bugle corps of Victory Post 155, American Legion of Westernport, took first prize of $70 cash for drum corps.

Dairy Dale Branch of Queen City Cooperative Dairy was awarded a prize of $25 for the best commercial float.

Plant Official Is Honored By National Guard

A certificate of appreciation has been presented to Robert W. Meals, assistant manager of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, by the National Guard Bureau of the Department of the Army and the Air Force.

The certificate was awarded in appreciation of the efficiency and loyal service while Col. Meals was attached to the National Guard Bureau in Washington, April 1951 to February 1954.

Mr. Meals terminated a 23-year Army career last year to accept a post with Hercules Powder Company, which operates the Pinto plant.

A few years after he graduated from West Point, he was assigned to the Ordnance Department, and during World War II served on the general staff in Washington.

After returning from an American Mission for Aid to Turkey, where he married a Turkish princess, Neremine Aysha Rahbey Tengris, he was sent to Washington and assigned to the National Guard.

Prior to his retirement, the Ordnance Corps and the Department of the Army presented similar certificates in recognition of his services.

Legion Dance Tonight

Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, in Ridgeley will sponsor a dance this evening from 9 o'clock until midnight for members and guests. Music will be furnished by Rudy and Pat.

Red Cross Fund Drive Moves Along

With the extension of the annual Red Cross fund campaign in an effort to reach the county quota of $37,100, reports yesterday indicated that all teams and divisions are making a strong effort to attain goals.

A total of $33,494.77 has been contributed to date, yesterday's report shows. This includes $10,284.75 from advance gifts; $4,589.56 from in-plant employee charity funds; $5,453 from the classified section; $633 from clubs and organizations; $1,226 from national firms; $4,133.51 from the women's division; $6,914.95 from the county branches; $10 memorials; and $250 miscellaneous.

In the county, several branches have exceeded their goals. Barton raised $455.15 against a goal of $424. Oldtown reported $110.35, with their goal $90. Mt. Savage had a record showing with $718.38 collected against a goal of $662.50. Piney Plains reported $95.10 collected with goal at $90. Ridgeley reported $416.56 and had a goal of $397.50.

The Celanese Employee Charity Fund contributed $1,400 to the Red Cross early in the drive, but this week submitted a breakdown of the gift, so that each branch in the county would be allocated its proper share. The breakdown and distribution follows: Frostburg, $216; Barton, $6; Eckhart, $25; Lonaconing, $75; Midland, $20; Mt. Savage, $35; Ridgeley, $35; Westernport-Luke, $25; and Cumberland, $963.

T. J. Klauenberg, general chairman of the drive, said yesterday that all sections of the campaign effort are being urged to complete their reports and to meet their goals. When goals were set it was necessary that they be reached, if the total budget of $37,100 is to be raised to continue the operation of all Red Cross services here. A total of $3,605.23 is needed, he noted, to close the campaign successfully. He expressed his appreciation for the volume of work already done, and expressed the hope that "everyone will bear with us just a little longer, and that every worker will contact the people missed, to pick up these badly needed contributions."

Accident Victim Held In Shooting And Robbery

SOMERSET, Pa., April 5 (P)—Jose Lamolli, a Puerto Rican native who lives at Campbell, Ohio, was arrested here today following a minor auto accident and held in connection with the brutal shooting and beating of two persons near New Castle, Pa.

Lamolli had been the object of a widespread search since last night. State police gave this version:

Someone lured Gonzales Torres, 35, of Youngstown, Ohio, to an isolated spot in Pulaski Twp. near New Castle. Torres was robbed of $140 and beaten so badly his skull was fractured.

A little while later, Edith Stowe, 44, was lured to the same spot and robbed of a small amount of money. She was shot 11 times. Meanwhile, Torres had made his way to a nearby home and police were called. They found the woman and sent out an alert for Lamolli.

State police arrested Lamolli after his car was involved in a skidding wreck on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Somerset. They first jailed him on suspicion of stealing a car, then turned him over to Lawrence County authorities when they learned he was wanted there on charges of assault, assault with intent to kill, and robbery.

A structured program will be offered with all resource materials to be used listed and available to each group through the leaders. Consultant service from the Child Study Institute of the University of Maryland will be available more frequently. Those connected with the pupil personnel department will serve leadership from time to time.

NAACP To Meet

The executive board of the Cumberland branch of the NAACP will hold a public meeting tomorrow at 3 p. m. at Ebenezer Baptist Church, according to John W. Worman, president.

The meeting is being held to assist in formulating plans for the cleaning of Summer Cemetery. Local organizations are requested to send a representative and all interested persons are invited to attend.

Plans Motel Units

Charles Paul Roeder, operator of the Blue-White Tower Motel, 36 North George Street, secured a city permit yesterday for the construction of five motel units.

The units will be in a 56 by 23 foot concrete block building located on an existing concrete deck, and will cost about $4,000.

New Agreement Is Signed At Kelly Tire Plant

1,750 Members Of Local 26 Affected

A two-year working agreement was signed here yesterday by representatives of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union, and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

The new pact will cover some 1,750 employees of the local tire plant and will be effective until May 1, 1959.

Wages, which average $2.25 an hour, were not an issue in the contract negotiations.

A number of improvements were negotiated, according to James Stein, president of the Kelly local.

Some Get 4 Weeks

Vacations were liberalized, Mr. Stein said, so employees with 11 to 24 years of service will receive three weeks of vacation annually, and those with 25 or more years of service will get four weeks.

Members of the union affiliated with armed service reserve components will be given make-up pay for two weeks' annual training duty. This will be the difference between the government pay and a worker's average wages.

For every 100 employees, two and one-half hours of paid grievance time will be allowed by the company, Mr. Stein said.

The company will also pay for worn-out and broken tools, and pay for three days will be allowed for funerals in the immediate family.

Pact Is Ratified

Some improvements were also made in seniority provisions, holiday pay and working conditions, the union said.

The new pact was ratified at membership meetings held March 24 and 25 and April 1 and 2.

A membership meeting of Local 26 will be held today at 7:30 p. m. Business will include a report by the Policy Committee and reports on five grievances.

Area Scouters Will Attend Training Course

An outdoor training course for adult Scouters of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be held this weekend at Camp Potomac, according to Dean K. S. McKee, Keyser, council training chairman.

He said about 50 Scouters of this area are expected to attend the course which will open today at 2 p. m. and close Sunday at 2 p. m.

Outdoor Scouting skills will be covered by the course, along with planning for a hike or camp, parent participation, troop committee responsibilities, campfire programs and menu planning.

Veteran Scouters will serve as instructors for the courses. It will be an "outdoor" weekend, with those attending sleeping in tents and cooking their meals outdoors by patrols.

Invited to attend are Scoutmasters and post advisors.

Larry Horner To Talk At Rotary Meeting

Larry Horner, superintendent of quality control at the Celanese Corporation here, will be the guest speaker at Tuesday's meeting of the Cumberland Rotary Club.

Mr. Horner's subject will be "The Suez Canal" and how important it is today as a link in the world of commerce.

AFL Meeting Set

The Allegany Trades Council will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple.

Two Truants Land In Court Here

Four Berlin, Pa., area boys skipped school yesterday and came to Cumberland. Two of them ended up in Juvenile Court, involved in the theft of a radio from a music store.

A 17-year-old student had a transistor radio in his pocket when he and a 14-year-old companion were arrested by Officer Walter P. Crabtree. Both were found guilty of delinquency at a hearing before Magistrate Morris Baron.

The magistrate sentenced the youths to the Maryland Training School for Boys but suspended sentence and paroled them on condition they do not return to Cumberland unless accompanied by one or both parents.

Magistrate Baron said the four youths played "hooky" yesterday and visited Sykes Music Store on North Centre Street.

As they left, he said, a clerk discovered a portable radio was missing, and the clerk and Wilton Sykes, manager, ran after the quartet.

The lads fled up North Centre Street but were taken into custody by Officer Walter Crabtree. The others escaped.

Magistrate Baron said Lt. James E. Van, who preferred charges, said the older lad had the radio in his pocket and that the younger saw him pocket it and tried to shield him.

Heart Group Plans Annual Meeting May 21

The annual election and report meeting of the Allegany-Garrett Heart Association will be held at Central YMCA May 21 at 6 p. m., with a Dutch treat dinner.

The association's executive committee, at a regular meeting in Central YMCA, heard reports on the recent fund-raising campaign, case load, nomination and by-laws committee, and other activities.

Ernest B. Treat, president, said the total for the Heart Fund campaign has reached $17,268.14, with contributions coming in by mail in nominal amounts. This continued giving, he said, is an expression of the growth of the program in the two counties, and indicates that the association is continuing to give considerable health service to those who need it.

More Children Helped

Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, executive secretary and visiting nurse for the association, said the case load of children suffering from rheumatic fever has now reached 117 in the two counties. These children are provided without charge, daily doses of bicillin to prevent recurrences of rheumatic fever and speed the youngsters on the road to recovery.

She also reported that all the association's wheelchairs, hospital beds and other loan equipment are in use, and as the case load continues to increase, more of these items must be provided.

The budget committee, of which John B. Geare is chairman, was asked to take a "new look" at the budget for the next fiscal year. The program of service is growing rapidly, and the demand for increased assistance is taking the resources of the association, Mr. Treat noted. He said that, despite the fact that Heart raised over $1,000 more than its quota in the recent campaign, a year from now the Association will be pressed for funds, at the present rate of demand for service.

Problems Studied

The executive board also studied the problem of additional help in the office and increasing the number of volunteer service workers in the heart program.

Mr. Geare, who was appointed chairman of the nominating committee at a recent meeting, said his committee will present a slate of 15 to be elected directors from this county and seven from Garrett.

The election is always held at the annual meeting, and all persons who contributed to the Heart campaign are eligible to vote. They may also submit nominations from the floor, in addition to the slate presented by the nominating committee. Mr. Geare explained.

After the election, the new board must meet and organize by electing a president, vice president, secretary and a treasurer. The president will appoint from the board the additional members of the executive committee.

Two Recreation Board Members Resign Posts

Consolidation Plan Showdown Slated

Two members of the City Recreation Board have resigned and it appeared possible last night that other members of the advisory group may follow suit Tuesday night unless the Mayor and Council acts on the proposal to consolidate the Recreation and Park departments.

Letters of resignation have been submitted to the Mayor and Council by Chief Judge George Henderson, former chairman of the board, and Lacy Cifala, whose term as member expires next month.

The city's recreation director, N. Gwynn Fletcher, handed in his letter of resignation March 25 at the end of a stormy session of the Mayor and Council and the Recreation Board, called to discuss proposals to consolidate the Recreation and Park departments and to provide a wage increase for a member of the staff. His resignation is effective April 22.

No Change For Better

Judge Henderson's letter of resignation, effective immediately, pointed out that when he accepted the appointment in 1952 he understood the purpose was to have a recreation program planned, developed and executed by a group of citizens who were believers in the movement and would be free from political motives and influence. His letter said:

"My hopes as to the manner in which the board would be allowed to operate for the good of recreation in Cumberland have not been realized. Nor do I see any indication of a change for the better."

He told the Mayor and Council he was sending a copy of the resignation to Mr. Weber and that board members would understand the reason, as the difficulty which confronts the board had frequently been discussed at meetings.

Mr. Cifala said last night he had mailed his resignation to the Mayor and Council.

Ponders Decision

The chairman of the board, Mr. Weber, said last night he had not fully made up his mind on future actions.

He added, however, that unless the proposed consolidation plan is adopted by the Mayor and Council he felt it would be his duty to resign.

"That is what I am working for," Mr. Weber said, adding he is not insisting that the Board has the only solution to Cumberland's recreation problem.

He pointed out that every major recommendation made by the board during his term of office has been turned down by the Mayor and Council, or passed only after strong objection.

He added he did not expect to take any further action until the Board meets Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

Pay Is Unhappy

Albert S. Paye, who has been on the recreation board since 1950, said yesterday he hasn't definitely made up his mind.

"I am very unhappy with the situation as we have met with constant frustrations," he added. Arch M. Hutcheson, another member, said he had not made up his mind about resigning.

Mrs. Florence Yankelevitz, whose term expires in 1960, said she is waiting for the recreation board meeting Tuesday.

She added that she is considering resigning but feels the board should stay in office until Mr. Fletcher leaves.

The seventh member of the board, G. Monroe Sharer, died recently and the vacancy has not been filled.

The park-recreation department consolidation plus the council's refusal to go along with the board's Southview Addition plan are reported to be the two issues that have precipitated the action.

Two Back Plan

The joint meeting held March 25 resulted in firm backing of the consolidation plan by Mayor Roy W. Eves and agreement that the Mayor and Council would meet to talk over the consolidation plan.

The meeting has not been held, but Mayor Eves indicated earlier this week the session would possibly be held Monday.

Finance Commissioner John J. Long, who was not present at the joint session, said later he would ask Mr. Fletcher to reconsider his resignation and would urge the Mayor and Council to give consideration to the consolidation plan.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz has called for a complete evaluation of the program and is considering a consolidation plan which does not involve a charter change.

Swauger Appointed Forest Warden

Albert C. Swauger of Mt. Savage has been appointed a forest warden for two years starting April 1 by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin.

District Forester William H. Johnson said Mr. Swauger was named as representative of the Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company. His commission signed by the governor is in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Civitan Officials Greeted

C. Bernard Tasker, (left), president of the local Civitan Club, greets John S. Richardson, Arlington, Va., governor of the Chesapeake District of the Civitan Clubs, who was a guest at this week's meeting. Looking on is Harry J. Norris, Chambersburg, Pa., Zone 7 lieutenant governor.
